

BRIGHAM AND WOMEN'S HOSPITAL

Perinatal Epidemiologist

The Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Brigham and Women's Hospital, a major teaching hospital of Harvard Medical School is seeking an Epidemiologist to work in the Maternal Fetal Medicine perinatology area. This position will be a Brigham and Women's Hospital appointment with full time benefits. Candidates must have a doctorate in epidemiology with experience in perinatal epidemiology. In addition, candidates should have a strong quantitative background with experience in programming and analysis of case control and cohort data. Excellence in writing and teaching must be demonstrated. Strong interpersonal, administrative and collaborative skills are required. A commitment to teaching residents and medical students is essential.

Academic rank as Instructor, Assistant Professor and/or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements.

Applicants are invited to submit a letter of interest and their curriculum vitae to:

Louise Wilkins-Haug, M.D., Ph.D.
Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology
Maternal Fetal Medicine Division
Brigham and Women's Hospital
75 Francis Street
Boston Ma 02115

The Brigham and Women's Hospital and Harvard Medical School are affirmative action equal opportunity employers.